(b) According to the State Govt. of Assam, all the genuine persons have come back and no more list of such evacuees is pending with them. However, according to the State Govt. of West Bengal, about 2261 persons out of these who came to West Bengal from Assam in the wake of 1983 disturbances are still to be repatriated and the particulars of these remaining evacuees have been furnished to the Assam Government.

It has been suggested that a joint team consisting of senior officers of both the State Governments may be constituted to go into this matter in order to arrange expeditious repatriation of remaining evacuees to Assam and their re-settlement at their original place.
